Charged With Stealing Many Thousands—Used Funds to Float Many Enterprises.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—George Fitzgerald, former assorting teller of the Chicago federal subtreasury, was arrested today by Deputy United States marshals and charged with the mysterious theft of $173,000 from the subtreasury February 19, 1907. Fitzgerald was arrested on a bench warrant following an indictment secretly returned by the federal grand jury on February 10, 1910. On February 20 it was announced that the statute of limitations had operated to stop possible criminal action, and coincident with this ruse by the authorities, secret service men were detailed to watch Fitzgerald constantly and make a rigid investigation of the former teller's financial affairs. Discoveries were made that resulted in Fitzgerald's arrest. Fitzgerald was formally arraigned before Judge Landis and his bail fixed at $50,000. He was unable to give bail and was taken to the county jail. The indictment against Fitzgerald as read in court specifies four counts, three of the charges being for embezzlement and the fourth for grand larceny.

The attaches of the district attorney's office declare that since the strange disappearance of the money Fitzgerald has done the following: Organized the Illinois Car Manufacturing company, with a fifty thousand dollar plant, at Hammond, Ind.; organized the Illinois Bolt Nut Forging company, with a plant at Chicago; dealt extensively in stocks and bonds; moved from a modest flat to a ten thousand dollar residence; paid for this new home and furnished it expensively; lived in expensive style and entertained friends lavishly.

GEO. BARTLETT IS NOW IN LINE FOR HIS OLD PARTY

The Carson City News says: Congressman Bartlett and Malcolm Macdonald, the well known Southern Nevada mining operator, came down from Lake Tahoe last evening and spent the night in this city. They will leave for Virginia City this morning on mining business. Bartlett was questioned as to the truth of the rumor that he was to be an independent candidate for governor. He denied the report and claimed that he never had any intention of running for the office and that he would not do so now. He said he would support the Democratic ticket this fall, as all good Democrats are expected to do, but that he had no further interest in the campaign.

The congressman has taken on a new hobby and said he would make a campaign among the legislative candidates in an endeavor to have a law passed at the coming session of the legislature providing for free text books. He also said he would use his efforts to have a plank incorporated in the Democratic platform demanding such a measure. As the little congressman with the poetic hair is interviewing legislative candidates of both parties, he will also see to it that a similar plank will be a part of the Republican platform.

NAT. REPUBLICAN LEAGUE TO BE HELD IN CARNEGIE HALL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—All indications are most flatteringly auspicious for the convention of the National Republican league to be held at the famous Carnegie hall in New York city September 30 and October 1.

Mr. D. B. Atherton, secretary pro tem of the league, is back again at the organization headquarters at Washington, having come from a most satisfactory conference with John Hays Hammond, the league president, who is now in England. Mr. Atherton has been sending out words of good cheer this week to members of the league in the different states assuring them of an enthusiastic convention with a great demonstration of loyalty by young Republicans which is reasonably expected to have an inspiring effect upon the party generally. From all directions come the most abundant evidences of lively interest in the coming convention. Topping a list of distinguished speakers and party leaders will be President Taft in a speech which will be the most important political utterance delivered by him since the campaign of 1908.

The very wide approval of President Taft's speech at the Conservation congress in Minneapolis, commendation of his position having come from the leading newspapers of the country and being echoed among the people generally almost irrespective of politics, is taken as assurance that the president will on this occasion sound a stirring call to battle which will rally Republican hosts everywhere.

Through the energetic efforts of John A. Stewart, president of the New York State league, visiting delegates will be entertained with lavish hospitality, several clubs having prepared to keep open house for league guests.

The recent decision of President Taft to forego acceptance of numerous invitations to make speeches which have been coming to him within the past year and the fact that he will make the principal address at the league convention, promises the occasion national significance. The president, it is understood, has given what he intends to say more than usual thought and it goes without saying that after his great Minneapolis speech, his deliverance to the league convention will be the most important political speech of the year.

We do not laugh enough. There is nothing more pleasant to the ear than the merry laugh of a happy, joyous person, and nothing drives away gloom and care like a good, hearty laugh. Laughter and good humor make a happy, pleasant home and a cheerful bright home is the greatest safeguard against the temptations for the young. Parents should guard against this and spare no pains to make home a cheerful place.

A WORKINGMAN'S PRAYER.

O God, thou mightiest worker of the universe, source of all strength and author of all unity; we pray thee for our brothers, the industrial workers of the nation. As their work joins them in common toil and danger, let them grow together in a strong sense of their common interest and destiny. Help them to see that the injury of one is the concern of all, and that the welfare of all must be the aim of everyone. And if one of them should be tempted to sell the birthright of his class for a mess of pottage for himself, give him a wider outlook and broader sympathy. Teach him to keep step in a steady march onward and to fulfill the law of Christ by sharing the common burdens. Grant the organizations of labor quiet patience and prudence in all disputes, and fairness to see the other side. Save them from the two-edged sword of violence that turns on him that seizes it. Raise up for them more leaders of able minds and strong hearts, and give them grace to follow wise counsel. When they strive for leisure, health and a better wage, grant their cause success, but teach them not to spend their gains on fleeting passions, but to use them in building fairer homes and a nobler manhood.
